THE WAR IN UKRAINE AT THE TIME OF POST-TRUTH AND OF THE “ENTROPY” OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS

This contribution, by drawing on a global sociology perspective, is aimed at developing a critical view of the context in which the Russian-Ukraine conflict has broken out as a result of the Russian invasion, focussing on three aspects, that is the analysis of the main causes of the conflict, the role of social media communicative environment in collective representation of the war, the identification of the main dynamics and consequences of this war on contemporary global society and international politics.
