EVOLUTIONARY PROFILES OF THE ONE HEALTH PARADIGM IN THE CONTEXT OF UNION POLICIES

The aim of this work is to investigate the concrete applications of the One Health approach in the context of the various policies of the European Union, deepening the regulatory framework of reference, identifying the critical issues and possible evolutions. In particular, the limitations of the current regulatory framework on health policy based on Articles 6 and 168 TFEU will be highlighted, which give the EU the competence to carry out actions to support, coordinate or complement the action of the Member States in the health sector. Although the European Parliament has presented a resolution proposing the reform of some provisions of the Treaties, hoping for the introduction in Article 168 TFEU of an express reference to the One health approach, the expansive scope of the phenomenon extends far beyond European health policy to other European Union policies as well.
